§ 10/16/2017 6:00pm-8:00pm	It's All About Relationships! - The relationships young children build with their caregivers in infancy teach them how to develop relationships throughout life, and these relationships cannot exist without attachment. In this training we will explore attachment theory, how to be "present" with infants and toddlers, and read the social-emotional cues that tell us what they need. We will also, through videos, discussion and reflection, take time to think about primary caregiving roles and responsibilities, how to develop a system of primary caregiving and continuity of care, and how to use this system to build real relationships with infants, toddlers and families. Part of the Relationship based care optional series.	CDA03 - 1.00hrs. CDA04 - 0.50hrs. CDA05 - 0.50hrs.	Children's Village (Monroe)
10/17/2017 6:30pm-8:30pm	Self-Regulation: Helping Children With High Energy and Low Focus - The term self-regulation is a common buzz word in the field of early childhood education. Sometimes it may be difficult to know what it really means and how it relates to young children and their behaviors. In a nutshell it describes things children learn to manage over time. Some children are able to manage these skills quicker than others. This can present many challenges in the classroom. So what do you do in the mean time? Join us in this workshop to discuss how we help emotionally overloaded children build the skills they need to manage their strong emotions. Walk away with tools and strategies in supporting children who have high energy.	CDA03 - 2.00hrs.	BTWCC (Vigo)
